"Great Website - Sydney for Kids has brought me over 400 website referrals in the last 12 months."
Bev Jones, The Train Shed

"Marian Street Theatre for Young People has been in the Sydney for Kids website since its inception. As one of the longest running children's activities sites, it's really important for our not-for-profit theatre company to be visible to families. Sydney for Kids is easy to use, with the Directory showing good clear information for each area of Sydney and the Family Fun Calendar gives detailed information on our productions. You can even find the Public school holiday dates! I use the website myself to find events for my own relatives when they visit Sydney."
Margie McCrae, Artistic Director, MSTYP

"The Sydney for Kids website is dedicated to helping Sydney families get out and enjoy this great city and its surrounds – as a family. Here at Streetwork we work every day with troubled young lives that have gone off the tracks. The single biggest common factor among the young people we work with is a non-existent or dysfunctional family life. We wholeheartedly encourage families to spend time together doing stuff and we greatly encourage the good work Sydney for Kids is doing. Streetwork is one of the Charities listed on the Sydney for Kids website and we also regularly publish our functions and activities on the site. We wish Sydney for Kids continued growth and success and commend it as a great initiative to support."
Geoff Munday, Director, Streetwork

The National Parks and Wildlife Service has recently added 31 entries to the Sydney for Kids Directory covering venues, public programs and school excursions.
